PRICE TEN CENTS

New Year's Eve Fun Is Priced From $1 To $100

By The Associated Press
All eyes point to a revelry boom New Year's Eve that could be the biggest in fun and money since World War II. You could pay anywhere from a buck to a hundred dollars for the night out.

Apparently ready to put aside serious thoughts of the war in Vietnam and other world and domestic tensions, many Americans seemed determined to make a big night of it.

"The people seem determined to celebrate and do their worrying on Jan. 3," said Phil Miles, vice president of New York's Brody Corporation, which manages the Rainbow Room and the Rainbow Grill among other establishments. Generally, prices will run about the same as last year, and in some instances slightly lower, an Associated Press sampling of night clubs, hotels and restaurants across the country showed.

Peter Redfern, resident manager of the Hotel Claremont in Berkeley, Calif., explaining why the hotel's Churchill Room cocktail party had been reduced from $10 a couple to $7.50, said: "You might call it tight money. We're trying to get them to loosen it up."

In Chicago, the top is $100 a couple, including tax and tip, at Maxim's de Paris in the Astor Tower Hotel. The price, the same as last year, includes a gourmet dinner with Russian caviar, dancing, imported French favors and a luxury suite in which a champagne breakfast is served in bed.

Or you can skip the suite and bubbly in bed and pay only $30 a couple, or after 2 a.m. can have a special breakfast with dancing for $10 a couple plus tax and tip. Many big-name entertainers, including Juliet Prowse, Xavier Cugat, Mort Sahl, Jimmy Durante, Debbie Reynolds and Steve Lawrence and Eydie Gorme, are appearing in gambling casinos on Las Vegas.

Strip. You can get a look at them for $25 a head. Rooms in the major hotels in Vegas have been sold out for a month. In some spots, dinner and dancing runs $10 and $15 a head, including favors and gifts for the ladies. In New York, dinner-dance prices are as high as $100 a couple, with $50 a couple fairly common.

Kelley Testing Police Training Fund Fee Law

LANSING (AP)—The attorney general planned to ask the State Court of Appeals today to uphold the legality of a new court cost which criminals pay into a fund for training Michigan policemen.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley filed a notice of appeal Thursday before Circuit Judge Archie McDonald of Eaton County, who has refused to assess the new fee Kelley earlier had asked McDonald to comply with the 1965 law which requires judges to charge the fee.

Since last Jan. 1, the state has been charging a fee of 10 per cent of all criminal fines, but not traffic fines, to finance activities of the Michigan Law Enforcement Training Council.

McDonald contends the fee violates the state constitution's requirement that penal fines go into the county library fund.

Assistant Atty. Gen. Robert Goussy, chief of the criminal division, said the state's position is that the fee is a court cost, not a fine, and thus is constitutional.

McDonald also contends that requiring judges to charge the extra cost infringes on their discretion to determine how much a lawbreaker should pay.

The State Revenue Department said the state has collected $127,582 so far this year in such fees, far short of the $250,000 anticipated by the training council.

Col. Fredrick Davids, State Police director and council chairman, said a new type of funding will be sought if the fee is held unconstitutional.

"I think some judges are holding back until they see the outcome of this case," Davids said. "We'll do all right this fiscal year because we're not fully underway."

Kelley said he would take the case as far as the Michigan Supreme Court if necessary.

Under the law, the state is to pay 50 per cent of the cost of lodging, salaries and training of policemen from cities, counties and villages participating in certified programs.

The first certified training school was held earlier this month for 34 Traverse City-area policemen. Six or seven others await certification.

Auto Workers Blast AFL-CIO; May Leave

Students Prefer Jail To War

Johnson Gets Letter From Protest Groups

NEW YORK (AP)—One hundred student leaders from across the country have sent an open letter to President Johnson questioning U.S. goals in Vietnam.

"Unless this conflict can be eased, the United States will find some of her most loyal and courageous young people choosing to go to jail rather than to bear the country's arms, while countless others condone or even utilize techniques for evading their legal obligations," the letter said.

The letter, which the student leaders signed as individuals, was mailed to the White House Thursday. The signers are from both church and nonsectarian schools in every region of the country.

There was no immediate comment from the White House.

"We write," the students said, "in hope that this letter will encourage a frank discussion of these problems. If such a discussion clarified American objectives in Vietnam, it might help reverse the drift, which is now from confusion toward disaffection. To this end, we submit for your consideration some of the questions now agitating the academic community:

"— There is doubt that America's vital interests are sufficiently threatened in Vietnam to necessitate the growing commitment there.

"— There is doubt that such vital interests as may be threatened are best protected by this growing commitment.

"— There is doubt that a war which may devastate much of the countryside can lead to the stable and prosperous Vietnam we once hoped our presence would help create.

"— There is considerable concern about apparent contradictions in the American position on certain points basic to the demand for Shrikes in Vietnam exceeds the available supply.

A $4.4-million contract for Shrikes was let Wednesday to the Sperry Rand Corp., of Bristol, Tenn., along with a $1.7-million contract to Texas Instruments, Inc., of Dallas, Tex.

So far unofficial figures indicate $4.5 million has been spent on the 1,500-mile an hour Shrike. Official figures were not immediately available.

While the Navy is still buying Shrikes, reports are circulating in the Pentagon that contracts are being drawn for production of a Shrike replacement. The figure generally used is $80 million to $100 million.

The Shrike, which came into the combat inventory in 1965, is known as an antiradiation missile.

It is designed to home on the electronic beams emitted by the enemy's radar. This radar is used by the North Vietnamese to detect approaching aircraft and for controlling the aim of guns and missiles.

There have been reports that the Shrike, which is quite similar in design and appearance to the Sparrow III air-to-air missile, is confused when the enemy flicks his radar sets at multiple sites on and off.

To counter this tactic, the improved Shrike supposedly will have a memory built into it, one which will select a radar beam, plot its location and continue on course even though the target ceases transmissions. It will ignore beams from other sites.

The Shrike has a range of eight to 10 miles. The new antiradiation missile reportedly will have a range four to five times the Shrike's.

Reuther-Meany Feud Erupts In Public Dissent

DETROIT (AP)—A widening policy rift between officials of the AFL-CIO and its largest affiliate—the 1.2 million-member United Auto Workers—was out in the open today.

In an unprecedented move, the UAW sharply criticized the parent labor organization Thursday for what it termed complacency and clinging to the status quo.

Disagreements between the two labor giants, the UAW said, go to the heart of the fulfillment of the fundamental aims and purposes of the American labor movement.

Although some observers believed the strongly worded statement left the door open for eventual withdrawal of the UAW from the federation, one informed source said there has been no such discussion among the union's inner circle.

The source told the Associated Press:

"Outside Talk"
"All such talk has been on the outside, not on the inside. The statement was issued because we have not been able to solve our policy conflicts in private and therefore have decided to bring disagreements into the open."

"We don't want our membership to think that we are going along in silence with AFL-CIO policies with which we disagree."

"While it's not necessarily a declaration of war, we have served notice that we don't intend to sit by quietly in the future."

The federation was created in 1955 with the merger of the AFL and the CIO.

In a letter sent to its union locals, the UAW contended the AFL-CIO "is not fulfilling the basic aims and purposes which prompted the merger."

The statement was signed by the union's four top officers—President Walter Reuther, Secretary-Treasurer Emil Massey and Vice Presidents Leonard Woodcock and Pat Greenhouse.

It was an obvious attack on the leadership of AFL-CIO President George Meany, with whom Reuther has feuded for years. Relations between the two have deteriorated recently.

In blistering terms, the UAW letter denounced the AFL-CIO for what it said was an absence of a spirit of tolerance of new ideas and difference of views, along with an understanding that the free labor movement must achieve unity in diversity.

"It added:
"Lacks Social Vision
"The AFL-CIO lacks the social vision, the dynamic thrust, the crusading spirit that should characterize the progressive, modern labor movement which it can and must be if it is to be equal to the new challenges and the new opportunities of our 20th Century technological society."

Reuther and his fellow officials said the report was being made "with a deep sense of sadness rather than bitterness or anger."

They said the failure of the AFL-CIO to fulfill its promise is cause for grave concern "not only to the elected leadership of the UAW but to all members," and promised to evaluate and review the work and activities of the AFL-CIO in future reports.

No Comment
In Washington, a spokesman said the AFL-CIO would have no comment on the letter.

In its statement, the UAW said the parent organization has failed to commit adequate resources essential to an all-out organizational crusade reaching millions of non-union workers.

War Hawks May Boss Demo Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—WILLIAM F. Buckley Jr., conservative editor of the New York Post, said President Johnson's administration is dominated by the hawks or the doves in 1967?

There are sharp differences in the ranks, but the prevailing attitude in Congress appears to be hawkish.

White House advisers, divided too, seem also to lean toward a hawk-like increase in military pressure in Vietnam over attempts to lure the Communists to a conference table with a dove-like approach.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, presidential adviser Walt Rostow and most of the generals and admirals are acknowledged hawks. Ambassadors Arthur Goldberg and W. Averell Harriman, along with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, are considered doves for the most part.

The President, who must make the final decision to escalate or not, keeps ordering more troops into the field, while at the same time holding out the olive branch to the Communist government of North Vietnam.

One thing is certain. Failure to achieve peace talks in the new year will increase demands for escalation to end the war militarily.

Advocates Annihilation
Already, Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., of the House Armed Services Committee has called for "the absolute annihilation of Hanoi and Haiphong if it is necessary to victory."

Hanoi is North Vietnam's capital; Haiphong its main port.

What appears to be the dominant view in the Senate has been put by Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, in these words: "Their continued intransigence leaves us no choice but to inflict greater punishment on the Communists until they halt their aggression. I am convinced that the use of superior force is the only means by which they can be forced to the conference table."

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., had this to say: "As far as what weapons and techniques are needed to bring about victory or cause them to sit down at a conference table, it is a military problem, not a civilian problem."

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has consistently voiced support for the administration's policy in Vietnam, causing disappointment among some old liberal friends who denounce the U.S. war effort.

SEN. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, thinks the United States should recognize the National Liberation Front—a political arm of the Viet Cong—the Red guerrilla force operating in South Vietnam—then "move toward negotiations and try to neutralize the area."

Acceptance of Viet Cong negotiators at the conference table is one of North Vietnam's conditions for starting peace talks.

Fulbright conceded that his is a minority view and commented: "Congress is more warlike than the President."

Another who swims against the apparent congressional tide is Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, who wants to de-escalate the fighting and intensify peace bids.

"The options and alternatives," Mansfield contends, "are getting fewer."

In the view of many in Washington, Johnson himself is the foremost hawk. He has exhorted his field commanders in Vietnam to "come home with that coonskin on the wall."

TOKYO (AP)—One day after his ouster was demanded by the Red Guards, Red Chinese Foreign Minister Chen Yi delivered a fiery speech Thursday praising the "cultural revolution" purge.

"The situation in the great proletarian cultural revolution in China is excellent," Chen told a Peking rally of 100,000 persons, including Red Guards, the official New China News Agency reported.

Praises Mao
Chen repeatedly praised Communist Chairman Mao Tse-tung, who with Defense Minister Lin Biao turned loose the young Red Guards last August to drive anti-Mao thinkers from public life.

Neither Mao nor Lin attended the rally. Premier Chou En-lai did but did not speak.

Red Guards attacked Chen, 65, Wednesday in posters criticizing him for unspecified "personal remarks" and demanding, "Kick old Chen out."

The wife of the foreign minister, Chang Chien, a work committee deputy chief at a printing plant, was accused of restricting plant workers' campaigns and his son, Chen Shao-lu, was accused of mistakes while serving as a member of a crop inspection team.

Domestic Soviets
In his speech Chen said the main target of the purge "is the handful of people within the party who are in authority and are taking the capitalist road. They are as time bombs placed within our party."

He said the purge "has broken through the obstructions raised by the bourgeois reactionary line (anti-Maoists) and is developing in depth and breadth."

He also denounced the Soviet Union and Indonesia's new government for "dirty political deals." The failure of the attempted Communist coup in Indonesia in October 1965 was followed by a swing away from the pro-Chinese policy which Indonesia had followed and constituted Red China's gravest setback in the foreign policy field in many months.

(Continued from Page 1) any efforts to negotiate a settlement. High government officials reiterate our eagerness to negotiate "unconditionally," but we remain unclear about our willingness to accept full participation by the Viet Cong as an independent party to negotiations.

The letter urged Johnson to extend the New Year's truce even without a formal agreement with the Communists. It said this could be done by "de facto restraint on both sides."

The students' idea to write the letter to Johnson grew out of a debate at the annual congress of the National Student Association last summer on the campus of the University of Illinois.

The suggestion was put forward during the debate by Alard K. Lowenstein, a former president of the association who is now a lawyer and active reform Democrat in New York.

After the debate concluded, a group of 200 students held a rump meeting on the campus and agreed to draft such a letter.

They passed a hat and raised $83 to cover the expense of mailing the letter to student leaders around the country.

The letter was drafted and redrafted during September at meetings in the Manhattan

Ski Conditions Best In Years

By The Associated Press The weatherman predicted sunshine for Michigan today and the possibility of slightly warmer weather Saturday.

The Michigan Automobile Club, noting that snow conditions are reported the best in two years for skiing, warned at the same time that many roads are icy and dangerous.

The forecast for lower Michigan calls for some cloudiness and scattered snow flurries today, with generally partly cloudy skies and warmer temperatures Saturday.

Lows tonight were predicted in the 10-20 range, with highs Saturday ranging up to 30 in parts of lower Michigan.

The Upper Peninsula forecast is for general cloudiness, light snow and a slight warming trend Saturday, also. Lows tonight were forecast from 5 to 14, with Saturday's highs 20 to 25.

The students, however, postponed mailing it, first because of Johnson's trip to Asia, and then because of the elections.

"We didn't want it to look like an election gimmick," Miss Erdmann said Thursday.

C&NW Studies Relocation Of Rail Facilities

In a cooperative spirit toward the City of Escanaba the Chicago & North Western Railway is undertaking a study of the feasibility of relocating its railroad facilities here.

1. Robert Ballin, C&NW vice president-real estate, Chicago, has advised City Manager George Harvey:

"Because of our desire to cooperate with the City, we feel that a study of the entire problem should be instituted without further delay."

The Escanaba City Council and administration had expressed a desire for consideration of a relocation of facilities by the North Western after city planners had indicated the desirability of using an area of North Western land for other purposes. The area is located at the east side of North Western property from about N. 10th St. to the bay shore.

No Easy Matter

Ballin advised Harvey that the North Western is "aware of the problems which have been the subject of considerable discussion within your city government relating to the proposed urban renewal project for the City of Escanaba."

"Until the matter of the urban renewal development had been opened for full-scale discussion, there had been no necessity for the Railway Company to undertake any investigations as to its effect on Railway Company operations," Ballin continued.

"Recently, however, you and Mayor Harold Vanlerberghe brought to our attention the fact that the railroad yards and facilities occupy what is considered to be a key portion of the urban renewal area, and that in order for the project to be successful, the railroad facilities would have to be relocated."

"Such a relocation is no easy matter, nor is it in any way inexpensive," Ballin continued. "Further, it takes considerable amount of planning and analysis to determine whether such a relocation would be economically feasible."

Three Points

"On the other hand, we in the Railway Company feel strongly that we would not be performing our duties as good corporate citizens of the City of Escanaba if we did not undertake a feasibility study to determine:

"1—If a relocation could be effected without adversely affecting operations; 2—Where

War In Vietnam Settled In An Escanaba Alley

Two Escanaba young men who differed on how the war should be conducted in Vietnam decided the best way to settle the dispute was to fight it out.

Unlike the conflict in Vietnam, however, all they suffered were cuts and bruises, Escanaba police report.

The officers broke up the fight in the alley of the 300 block, S. 8th St., at 1:44 a.m. today after receiving a complaint from a disturbed resident of the area.

The combatants brought the hostilities to a halt at the suggestion of police and the whole situation was resolved through negotiation — which is unlike the Vietnam affair.

Escanaba Has Growth And Good Year In 1966

By CLINT DUNATHAN

There are indications of growth and economic health all along the line in the Escanaba community as 1966 draws to a close.

If there was one faltering note it was in the field of new home construction — but this followed a nationwide trend and was not considered particularly significant in the light of other gains for the year.

For instance, there were only 32 new dwellings approved for construction in the city this year, the same number as in 1965, according to reports from the office of City Assessor Charles Schmidt.

Permits for non-residential building actually declined from 34 to 29, and repairs and alterations permits dropped from 13 to 11.

But the major building permits in Escanaba were the kind that make substantial contributions to the physical growth of the community.

New Building
There is the new State Bank of Escanaba building, well on its way to completion, at 11th St. and 1st Ave. N.; the Doctors Park Medical Building which is also enclosed for the winter construction period at 2500 7th Ave. N.—to the west of the new Immanuel Lutheran Church.

Jack Hogan's Motel at 2635 Ludington St. is progressing in construction; and in the same area is the Robo Automatic car wash at 2630 Ludington; while the American Oil Co. has a new station at 2300 Ludington St.—new building that changes the face of the city's west end.

Lakeside Church of Christ has a new edifice at 2112 23rd Ave. S.; DeGrand Oil Co. has a new station at 536 N. 23rd St.; and a permit has been issued to construct a Harnischfeger Credit Union building at 3110 3rd Ave. N.

The Escanaba Area Public Schools has under construction new buildings to replace the old Franklin, which was razed after it was condemned as unsafe, and the Washington School building north of the Junior High School. Construction on the new Washington School will begin next spring.

THE NEW STATE BANK of Escanaba is far along in construction at 11th St. and 1st Ave. N. and this is the way it will look when it is completed. The building is adjacent to the area planned for expansion of public parking, and for development as a shopping plaza ultimately. The advancement of long-range planning for the city was one of the major accomplishments of the city in 1966.

More Customers
There is a new South Side School well along in construction at 18th Ave. S., to serve an area whose children had to be bussed to other schools for the past several years.

The City of Escanaba is also building a new harbor master and public toilet facility at the yacht basin, which is hoped to be completed next summer. One-half the cost is defrayed by Michigan Waterways Commission funds.

The number of electric meters in Escanaba increased by 53, up to 7,642 from a year ago; while the number of water meters went up 75—from 4,394 to 4,469, it is reported by City Controller Milton Emba.

Convert To Gas
It will be recalled the City of Escanaba sold (following an affirmative vote of the people) the municipal gas utility to the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. The private firm has been busy improving the gas distribution system and extending service to more areas in the community; while the city is phasing out its central steam heating system in the downtown district and will be completely out of the gas business next spring.

In the majority of homes or business places the conversion to natural gas was by those who previously heated with coal, where the coal-fired heating plants needed modernizing anyway.

There were a number of conversions from electricity to gas for heating water, but relatively few switched to gas from electricity in preference for cooking.

Report Retail Gains
The retail merchants and the Chamber of Commerce cooperated in compiling a report on 1966 business conditions—and the answers were generally favorable.

Department stores reported business the equal to or better than last year. Good merchandising and better promotions were credited with "a nice increase over last year" by one merchant.

"A fine year and substantial gain" in the shoe business is reported by one retailer, while another says business was better than a year ago—up an estimated 10 per cent.

Variety stores sampled for comment reported business good and above the year before; while a jewelry store manager reported business had increased about 10 to 12 per cent.

The furniture business is "up over last year and looks good for 1967," reported one merchant; another said business was "excellent" and they planned for an expansion in 1967; and a third said the year as a whole was good.

In general merchandise business was "very good" with the volume up considerably over last year.

New Ore Record
Grocers said business was about the same as the year before; while others reported a gain.

Ladies ready-to-wear reported "an increase" and "very good" and an increase over last year; and a dealer in specialty merchandise found business good with "80 per cent of it coming from out-of-town customers."

The Chicago & North Western Railway established a couple of new records in iron ore hauling in 1966—the 103rd consecutive year the railroad has been pouring iron ore through Escanaba to smelters on the lower lakes.

There was a new record in tonnage — 6,603,091 in 1966 compared to 6,571,508 back in 1960—and the last boat to load out on Dec. 23 set a new record for late-season ore shipping.

Oxford Paper Undecided On Munising Mill

Indecision by Oxford Paper Co. on plans to build a big paper mill in the Upper Peninsula is reported in the December issue of Pulp & Paper Magazine.

Oxford announced in June through the office of Gov. George Romney at Lansing that it was considering the construction of a $100 million pulp and paper mill near Munising, using the pulping wood production from forests of Cleveland Cliffs Iron Co., in the Upper Peninsula as a principal base for its wood supply, but counting on other sources, too.

The project is the largest ever proposed for Upper Peninsula wood using industry and it has introduced a strong new element into planning for future use of U. P. wood by industry as an operation of this size would cause realignment of U. P. pulpwood supply.

Responding to the future wood need situation created by this and other pulping expansion projects, the U. S. Forest Service recently announced that it would make available 500,000 cords of pulpwood over a 15 year period in the Hiawatha Forest on top of present cutting commitments.

Pulp & Paper, reporting questions asked by the N. Y. Society of Security Analysts in New York Dec. 8 of a panel of Oxford Paper Co. executives, said: "A sticky question for William H. Chisholm, Oxford president, was this: "How is his company going to get 'its share of this new business' if, as he said earlier, there is still no decision on whether it will build a new mill with a big paper machine and off-machine coater in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan? Despite passage of an enabling act for municipal financing by the Michigan Legislature, he said: 'We can't know whether we are going ahead for several months.' But he indicated other ways to expand."

These included acquisitions and expansion of Oxford's present facilities.

Canadian Project
An analyst asked whether the recent action by the Province of New Brunswick, Canada to acquire Oxford's wholly owned subsidiary, Nashwaak Pulp & Paper Co. (no mill, but forest properties totaling 216,000 acres), means that New Brunswick wants a pulp and paper mill built that will use this wood? Chisholm said he didn't know, but to further inquiry he said "We are not excited about building in Canada. 'Regardless of what happens, we are sure of (availability of) 20,000 cords per year of softwoods from the property for our Rumford (Maine) mill. We are talking to them about the sale.'"

Pulp & Paper reported "In the pulp and paper industry as a whole there has been a management lag as compared with technological change." Chisholm conceded, adding that "after much study and soul searching we realized that we are suffering from this disease."

Oxford Goals
In 1960 Oxford looked into use of a computer as a management tool and since then has improved long range planning, upgraded personnel and staff education, set up an annual profit plan and other reforms.

Oxford in 1962 set goals of doubling net sales every 10 years and a net income after taxes of 10 per cent of total assets. Chisholm said it was making progress toward both goals, and predicted 1967 sales of over $100 million, up $5 million over 1966.

Its volume should range between the current 385,000 tons and 400,000 tons, with 24 per cent of it book publishing papers, the largest such production in the world. Oxford publication papers include the needs of the National Geographic Society and constitute 40 per cent of Oxford's output.

Oxford has invested $1.2 million in research and development. It has brought out 35 new products in 5 years.

Lights At Hannahville

We've had another round of being good to the Indians in the Upper Peninsula.

First, members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers sent volunteer workers to the Indian community of Hannahville in Menominee County to wire the homes of Indians for electric service. The Catholic Diocese of Marquette put up $6,000 to give the project financial stability. UPCAP organized the project with aid of the Community Action Agency and the Indians have electric lights for the first time in their backwoods hamlet. They've been there since the 1880's and were in the woodlands of the Big Cedar River valley since 1853.

There was a great good feeling of accomplishment among the many people who contributed to this good will project. The Indians were given light fixtures, refrigerators, stoves and other appliances to make the electricity useful.

Shortly after this electrical blitz at Hannahville, St. Catherine's Church at the Bay Mills Indian reservation in Chippewa County burned. In it was a large collection of Christmas gifts and food contributed by the Telephone Pioneers of America in the Detroit-Port Huron Area. The collection followed report of a downstate deer hunter that he had found an Indian family there destitute.

When the collection of Christmas gifts burned the spirit which had prompted it proliferated and gifts poured into Bay Mills until there was a surplus. Some of it was sent by the Chippewa of Bay Mills to the Potawatomi at Hannahville.

The happenings at Hannahville and Bay Mills were heaven-sent for a sentimental Christmas binge in the big city press and TV. There can be no sensible criticism of charity; it is better that there be too much of it and that it be misdirected than that there be none, but our Christmas-with-the-Indians behavior is a revealing comment on our mores. We are uncomfortable about the Indians. We don't really know how to help them so we give them a gift.

One of the Hannahville Indians' greatest friends, a man who has befriended them throughout his life, helped them innumerable times, never disparaged them, said that the Saturday on which the volunteer electricians brought electricity to Hannahville was one of the great days of his life. "I've seen old dreams come true," he said, "people working together to help others. Such a spirit of good will. And the Catholic Bishop saying grace at lunch in the Methodist Church!"

This, and the impulsive charity that sent all the gifts to Bay Mills is heart-warming. But with Christmas over things are back to normal at Hannahville and Bay Mills and they have problems. What these problems are depends upon whether they're viewed by Indians or non-Indians.

The Indians apparently had no great hankering for electric lights. Some of them don't have them yet. On the other hand it takes no super salesman to sell the Indians automobiles.

Stringing the electric lines to Hannahville opts for the improvement of the village. A half century of debate on aid to the Indians there has suggested repeatedly that they should be moved from Hannahville; that the lands should be sold — to them, if they desire them — instead of held tribally as a federal slum.

The Indians of the U. P. and elsewhere are getting special treatment now because of the War on Poverty and its accent upon racial minorities living in ghettos. The Indians are our worst example of poverty in the U. P. There are several thousand of them and virtually all are impoverished under the definition of the condition written by the poverty people.

The electrification project rates A for effort and it may rate A for achievement in experience. Certainly it is impressive as an example of what can be accomplished under CAA's organization, but it tackles an environmental need of a complex problem of racial adjustment to an alien culture and no miracles can reasonably be expected. The effort at improvement, however, deserves public encouragement.

Ann Landers Tells What's Behind The Advice Column

By ANN LANDERS
In Saturday Review

Dear Ann Landers:
A few nights ago we were sitting around with a group of extremely intelligent people and someone quoted you. In rebuttal (and I'm sure in jest) one of the men said, "They ought to get her for practicing without a license."

It was significant, to me at least, that every person in the room was a reader of your column. I am not trying to be impertinent, but would you please explain how and why you give advice on legal and medical and emotional problems? It is sufficient to quote from the authorities!

I repeat, I am merely inquisitive.

Noisy Parker

Dear Parker:
If it were possible to "get" me for anything I would have been "got" long ago and I would not have been involved in this work for eleven years.

I repeatedly tell my readers that although I consult with top authorities in almost every field, I am not a lawyer or a physician or a psychiatrist, nor do I attempt to function as a substitute for any professional practitioner. Every week I urge thousands of people to seek professional help, and I direct thousands more to welfare agencies.

This is precisely my mission — to help those who ask for it. Why thousands of people sit down and write to an advice

ABOUT THE AUTHOR
Ann Landers — Mrs. Esther Lederer — is the wife of Chicago businessman Jules Lederer. Her syndicated column appears in 688 newspapers in this country and abroad, and she is the author of "Since You Asked Me" and "Ann Landers Talks to Teen-agers About Sex."

columnist in the first place is an interesting question, but the fact is they do write — approximately 1,000 letters every day.

No one needs a license to listen. No one needs a license to provide a shoulder to cry on or to direct the troubled and the uninformed to service agencies or to give a word of encouragement to the heavy-hearted. But there's more to getting the job done than having a license, my friend, as any fisherman will tell you.

Ann Landers
I do not consider myself a journalist and it is self-evident that I am not an intellectual. I am at once flattered and surprised when professional writers ask me how I get through to people. They say that I have a direct line to the masses, to the average American. But I have never met a mass and I have yet to meet anyone who will admit he is average. I address myself to individuals, not masses. People who suffer, suffer alone.

When I say that I do not consider myself a journalist I do not indulging in false modesty. The manner in which the column fell into my lap is enough to make a person believe in Santa Claus.

Eleven years ago when the Chicago Sun-Times was searching for someone to replace the advice columnist, who had died suddenly, Wilbur C. Munnecke, then business manager of the paper, suggested that I try out for the job. My qualifications were as follows:

I had never written a line for publication. I had never held a paying job in my life. I had never seen the inside of a newspaper plant. I had no degree, despite four years at Morningside College in Sioux City, where I majored in boys. I had not had a hard life. Worse yet, I didn't smoke or drink. I was a total square who believed in God and had been married to the same man for many years. Finally, the Iowa hay was still apparent, not only in my hair but in the way I put words together. The only thing I had going for me was that I had a teen-age daughter. I could at least be described as "a mother."

Did I mention luck? Well, I was shot full of it. Lawrence S. Fanning had just arrived from San Francisco to become editor of the Sun-Times Syndicate. On his unsuspecting head fell the task of salvaging the Ann Landers column.

This gifted Irish-American taught me the nuts and bolts of writing. He wielded his pencil like a machete, hacking away at redundancies, clichés, inanities. He sent me to the dictionary countless times to find out what the word really meant. He insisted that I support every fact with documentation from an expert. He repeatedly warned against sacrificing sound advice for a gag.

Although Larry Fanning moved from the syndicate to become executive editor of the Chicago Sun-Times, and later the Chicago Daily News, he has still found time to edit every word that has appeared under my byline. Together we have produced 385 columns a year for eleven years, two best-selling books, and dozens of booklets. Every piece of Landers writing reflects his skill and integrity.

The first letter I opened was from a Protestant girl who was in love with a Catholic boy. Would he be excommunicated if they were married in her church? I didn't know the answer but I knew someone who did. I borrowed a phone and called Father John J. Paul, a priest friend who lived in Eau Claire, Wisconsin. He told me that the young man could still attend the Roman Catholic church but he would not be allowed to receive the sacraments.

By the end of the day I had called friends in nine cities. Without realizing it I had established the pattern which is still an integral part of my work today.

Eleven years later dozens of readers still tell me daily to drop dead, get lost, stop playing God, and quit making up those ridiculous letters. They also want to know how I have the gall to tell people what to do with their lives after hearing only one side of the story.

Tennagers have called me a crummy old bat and a broken-down museum piece. The cocktail set insists that I am a reformed alcoholic who is out to dry up the world.

And how do I accommodate emotionally to attack? Very well, thank you, because every day I receive at least one letter that goes like this:

Dear Ann Landers:
You saved my life. Your letter arrived at the very moment when I was sure I didn't have a friend in the world. I was feeling so low the night I wrote to you I had to take a couple belts before I could put the words on paper. I took your advice and it worked. I realize now it was the only logical thing to do. As you said in your letter, sometimes a person is so close to the problem that he loses perspective. When I was a child, my mother used to tell me that every time a person does a good deed the Lord puts aside a stone for the home he will have in heaven. If this is true, Ann Landers, you will have a mansion. God bless you.

John R.
Who writes to Ann Landers? It could be anybody — and there are days when I'm sure it is everybody. Almost half of my mail comes from men — truck drivers, factory workers, waiters, farm hands, taxi drivers, and the like, predominate. I also hear from college professors, business executives, physicians, attorneys, and even clergymen.

Today's mail contained two letters from clergymen with identical problems — an unfaithful wife involved with a member of the congregation (one was the choirmaster). Each clergyman apologized for writing but said he was unable to discuss the problem with anyone in his community.

Eating Is Joy But Gluttony Is Suicide

Dear Ann Landers: The letter about those wonderful teenagers who helped a mother entertain a restless 3-year-old child on a cross-country train trip brought back one of my fondest memories.

Eighteen years ago I was traveling by train from Oregon to the Midwest. I had a 3-year-old boy and an infant to care for, and I had my hands full.

Four sailors noticed my plight. They took over the 3-year-old completely. One sailor had a harmonica and the youngster was intrigued by it. They treated the child to dinner and to lunch. One of the sailors held the baby for me — said he had an infant the same age at home and it was a treat for him.

My son is 21 years old now, but he remembers that trip to this day. He even recalls that when he spilled some potato chips, the sailors would not let him eat them off the floor.

In our rapidly moving society we fail to give credit to the thoughtful and kind people in the world. Thank you for printing letters that give them a well earned pat on the back once in awhile. It's refreshing to read something besides problems for a change. — B.J.J.

Julie Nixon Bows At International Debutante Ball

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
NEW YORK (AP) — A tall, rosy-cheeked brunette whose father was once vice president of the United States clung to the arm of a curly-haired lad whose grandfather was president at the time. She made her way down the center of a ballroom to bow to international society Thursday night.

The girl, Julie Nixon, representing the United States, was the first of 57 daughters of rich and important parents presented at the 12th annual International Debutante Ball held at the Waldorf-Astoria.

Julie, 17, a freshman at Smith College, is the younger daughter of former Vice President and Mrs. Richard M. Nixon. Her escort was David Eisenhower, grandson of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

More than 1,000 guests sat around candlelit tables or leaned over balconies glittering with gold and twinkling with lights to watch the parade of beauties and their military escorts.

Presiding over the event from the royal box — one that bulged out a little farther than the rest — were Julie's proud parents.

Randy Paar, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Paar, was too shy to join the receiving line of white-gowned girls who smiled and shook hands for several hours.

The International Debutante Ball was founded by Beatrice Joyce, an ample woman dubbed as "Duchess of Debs."

The yearly charity affair is a benefit for the Kidney Foundation of New York.

Stuffing green peppers? Before you do so, cut a slice from the stem end of each and scoop out the seeds (Chop the good part of the slice and use in a salad.) Cover the peppers with boiling water and boil for two minutes, then drain upside-down. After stuffing, the peppers will need about three-quarters hour in a moderate oven.

Relatives Dominate Best-Dressed List

NEW YORK (AP) — Being on the international best-dressed list this year seems to be a relative matter. The top 12 for 1966 are, for the most part, the daughters, or sisters, or in-laws of other best-dressed people.

A new member is Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, voted into fifth place by members of the fashion industry. Her daughter, Lynda Bird, also figured prominently in the voting, although she didn't make the top 12.

It was the first time any member of the Texas family in the White House had been even a contender for international fashion honors.

Heading the 1966 list this year is Princess Stanislas Radziwill, who didn't make it at all last year. But she had nevertheless been on it in previous years.

The best-dressed committee, composed of fashion editors, had elevated her sister, Mrs. John F. Kennedy, and Mrs. Kennedy's mother-in-law, Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, to the Fashion Hall of Fame.

Princess Radziwill, who will make her stage debut in Chicago next June, once worked briefly for McCall's magazine, the same publication that now employs Lynda Bird Johnson.

Another mother-daughter combination is Mrs. Carter Burden and Mrs. William Paley, wife of the Columbia Broadcasting System chairman. Mrs. Paley is in the Fashion Hall of Fame after five years on the big list. Her 23-year-old daughter headed the international best-dressed list last year and placed second this year.

Mrs. Loel Guinness, who has topped past lists, also has moved into the hall of permanent fashion glory to make room for other elegants. Taking a vacant place, 7th, is a pretty Guinness.

Henry Ford II's first wife, Anne McDonnell Ford, is in the Hall of Fame, and his second wife, the former Cristina Austin of Rome, is 11th this year.

Last year, Henry's daughters, Anne and Charlotte shared a berth, making the best 12 list a baker's dozen. This year Charlotte Ford Niarchos has 8th place, but sister Anne didn't repeat.

There are two Vanderbilts. Gloria Vanderbilt, now wed to writer Wyatt Cooper, is 4th; Mrs. Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt is 8th.

Unrelated except profession ally are actresses Lauren Bacall — Mrs. Jason Roberts Jr. — in 3rd place; and Sophia Loren — Mrs. Carl Ponti — in 9th place.

The other members of this year's list are Mrs. Angier Biddle Duke, wife of the U.S. ambassador to Spain, in 10th place; and Mrs. Harilaos Theodoropoulos, wife of the Greek shipping magnate, in 11th place.

Lynda Bird was among Washington fashion plates considered for honors. So were Nancy Dickerson, news commentator; Mrs. William McCormick Blair Jr., list. Her 23-year-old daughter headed the international best-hints from

Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: After many years of pinching pennies and making do, we finally retired and bought our dream home.

The floors throughout the house are beautiful and I want to keep them that way; so I am writing to you for any suggestions, or any dos and don'ts in caring for them.

Any advice you can give me will be deeply appreciated.

Mrs. R. C. Andrews

Dear Mrs. Andrews: First of all, I believe that floors should be dusted daily (either with a dust mop or a vacuum cleaner) so that tracked-in dirt or grit is not ground into the floors.

I'm not going so far as to say that you should dust under the couch, bed, etc., EVERY day. (That's carrying a good thing too far!) I do think the bare areas where there is the most traffic, should be dusted every day.

And, here's a little secret I learned:

If you spray your dust mop with just a little bit of air freshener, it will dampen the mop so dust and lint will be easy to pick up.

If you use a non-scut, self-shining wax, the floors should be reaxed when they become dull.

If you use a type of wax which requires buffing, reax when the floors no longer shine when you rebuff them.

Naturally, any spills on kitchen floor should be wiped up immediately. Use a damp sponge or cloth (wiping with a dry cloth or dry paper towel may leave a dull spot on some waxes) and wipe up the spill gently—don't rub. Then let it dry—don't wipe it dry.

Also, here are two very important cautions on caring for the floors:

Don't ever try to combine leftovers from cans of self-polishing waxes. Different manufacturers use different formulas. Even the same brand changes from time to time as the manufacturers make improvements.

Another thing...if you pour your wax into a flat container in order to dip an applicator or rag into it, DON'T pour that leftover wax back into its original container.

Dirt from applicator or cloth may be in the leftover wax in the pan, so you won't get the best results with it next time.

I hope the above will answer some of the questions you might have.

Congratulations on both your retirement and your new home. May you enjoy them both.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise: Since my 2-year-old daughter loves to put so much salt on her food, I give her her own salt shaker (Empty, for goodness sake!) and she "seasons" all of her OWN food as she eats.

Mother

Dear Heloise:

I have found another use for those glorious plastic bags.

On a rainy day, I put a plastic bag over my children's lunch bags and also over homework or school books which they have to carry on a rainy day.

Irene C. Bauer

And, dear Irene, you brought up a new subject which hit me like a two ton truck.

Why can't we use those thin plastic bags to cover ALL of our books? Even if we put them on our book shelves? At least it would protect the covers.

A big, heavy plastic bag is also good to put over book satchels. Cut a hold for the handle to go through on the closed end of the plastic bag. This way the top is closed and rain drops will run off.

Thanks a million.

Love,

Heloise

bacon and cold cuts:

Tear off about a yard or so of waxed paper. Put a few slices of bacon or a cold cut in each lap of the waxed paper and fold the paper back and forth until all of the meat is wrapped.

The paper inserted between slices makes them much easier to separate because they do not stick together.

Mrs. J. Holmberg

Dear Heloise:

Aren't grandma's precious? We have received many wonderful things from ours, but here's the best one yet:

She made no-iron pillowcases for the children, and they love them.

She made the cases of gaily figured flannel for cold weather and please for warmer weather.

When dried in the dryer, both kinds become soft and fluffy. And neither requires ironing!

Navy's Nuclear Powered Ships In Tonkin Gulf

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — The U.S. Navy announced that now its power-packed Task Force One — made up of all three of the Navy's nuclear-powered surface ships — is in action in the Gulf of Tonkin off North Vietnam.

The latest to arrive was the frigate Bainbridge, which joined the aircraft carrier Enterprise and the cruiser Long Beach at "Yankee Station" 100 miles off the North Vietnamese Coast.

The three ships operated previously as Task Force One with the U.S. 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean and sailed together in a history-making round-the-world voyage without refueling in 1964.

The 85,000-ton Enterprise, the world's biggest warship, arrived Dec. 17 for her second tour of duty with the 7th Fleet off Vietnam. The Long Beach preceded her by two weeks.

OLD AND NEW: The advantages of a split level, a development of this era, have been wrapped in a traditional exterior in this four-bedroom house, which has many touches reminiscent of Early American days.

Three Terrace Split Level

By ANDY LANG

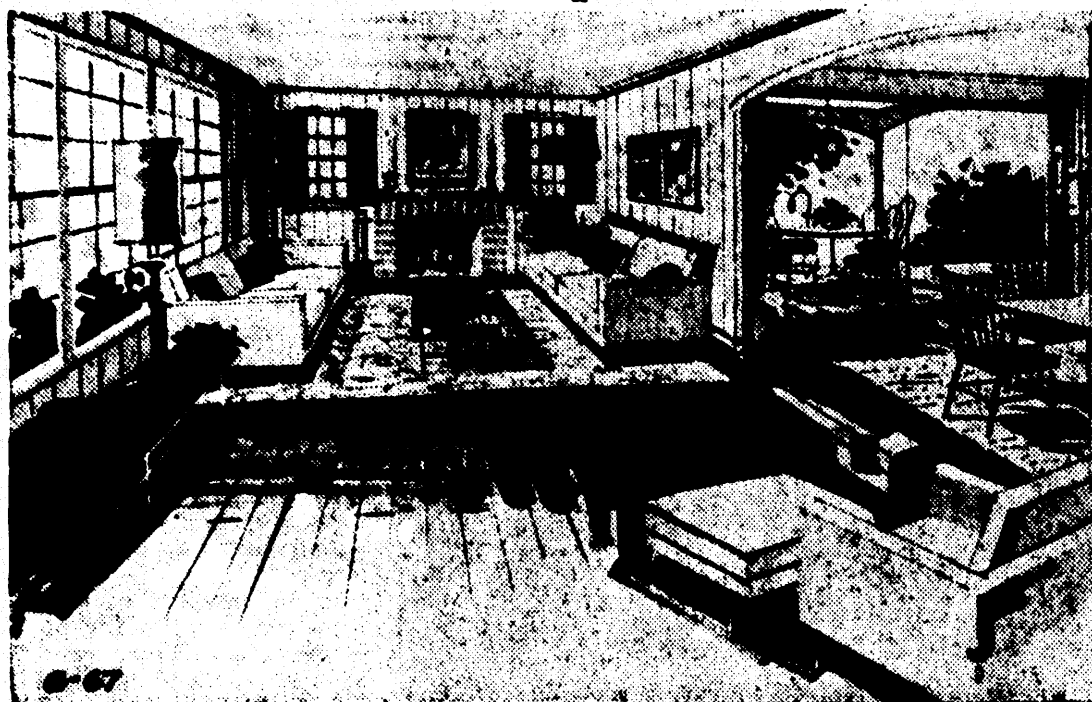

Provisions for outdoor living are almost a must these days in modern home design.

This is emphasized in G-67, the latest House of the Week designed by architect Herman H. York as an interesting four-bedroom split level with three terraces that are an integral part of the overall design. One of them, designated as a dining terrace, is open but roofed and is accessible to the regular dining room through sliding glass doors. Directly behind this is an outside terrace connected by door to the kitchen. This terrace is planned for the higher side of the plot, with the land falling away gradually down toward the family room below. If the land is flat, several masonry steps can be used to reach the grade above.

A third terrace is located directly behind the family room. The laundry, lavatory and mud closet are conveniently located near this area. Since many housewives prefer to hang some of their clothes in the sun even when they have dryers, this can be done with privacy when the laundry is placed as it is here.

The double entrance doors of this house are set under a covered portico. There are two closets in the large foyer, which leads to the living room on the left, the family room below or the bedroom section above. The living room and the dining room are separate but in an L relationship. There is a fireplace at the end of the living room, although this can be omitted if desired, since there is a second fireplace in the family room.

Appliances and cabinets in the kitchen are set in a U arrangement. The kitchen can be entered from the foyer, the dining room or one of the rear terraces and is next to the stairs that lead directly to the family room.

Upstairs, there are four bedrooms and two bathrooms. Two walk-in closets are adjacent to the private bathroom of the main bedroom. A double door from the hall to this bedroom lends a touch of elegance.

Moving downstairs again, note that the family room can serve as a complete entertainment center. It has a special recessed area for stereo, record storage and television equipment as well as a game closet.

A two-car garage, with storage space for tools and garden equipment, connects to the service area. Should the plot be of limited size, the garage doors can be placed at the front, although on a corner plot this would not affect the decision. The driveway then could be directed toward the street to the side.

There are overtones of Early American design in the exterior, one of these being the small-paned double-hung windows. In fact, it is somewhat similar to the type of architecture found in the area of the Potomac River in Colonial Washington. The larger mass of the house has wood corner boards capped as pilasters, with beveled siding for the balance. The portico is faced with brick to contrast with the painted wood columns and window trim.

FLOOR PLANS: Emphasis is on the separation of functional aspects, a typical example being the location of a special terrace at the rear of the family recreation room to provide a complete indoor-outdoor area for entertainment purposes.

Feminine Bandits

WARREN (AP) — Clifford Caldwell, 70, told police Thursday that two women walked into his fur store in this Detroit suburb earlier in the day and flashed a pair of pearl-handled revolvers at him.

They demanded money. He said he had none.

They told him to wrap up a couple of furs. He refused.

They forced him to write a check to "Hazzelle Hurd" and then they walked out with unpurchased fur pieces flung around their necks.

G-67 STATISTICS

Design G-67 has a living room, dining room, foyer, kitchen, four bedrooms and two baths on the upper levels, with a habitable area of 1720 square feet. There are 449 square feet of living space on the lower level, with a fireplace family recreation room, laundry room and lavatory. Not included in these figures are three terraces and a two-car garage with a large amount of storage space. Over-all dimensions are 56' by 43' 8".

Lakes Cargoes At 9-Year Peak

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Shipments of iron ore, coal and grain over the great lakes to Dec. 1 this year totaled 153,212,612 net tons, a nine-year peak, the Lake Carriers' Association reports.

The total was nearly 10 million tons ahead of shipments for the corresponding period last year. Bulk shipments of the three commodities in November totaled 15,825,814 tons—highest for the month since 1956, when 16,076,064 tons were carried, according to Oliver T. Burnham, vice president and secretary of the association.

The November total includes ore shipments of 5,889,305 gross tons, coal cargoes totaling 5,964,560 net tons, and grain shipments of 3,265,232 net tons.

Gladstone Tops Crusader Quint

GLADSTONE — Coach Bill Wood's youthful Gladstone basketball team gained another measure of maturity here Thursday night with an impressive 73-60 comeback victory over the Holy Name Crusaders.

The Braves refused to fold under pressure as they wiped out a big nine point deficit early in the second period to snare their third triumph in six starts. The setback was the third against four victories for the Crusaders.

It looked like a dismal night for Gladstone in the first quarter of the contest. The Braves did everything wrong and the Crusaders made the most of it for an 18-10 advantage at the end of the period.

It was 20-11 in the second frame before the host crew snapped out of it. John Watson and Steve Nelson, a pair of 6 foot 2 inch sophomore standouts, led their mates out of the hole as they teamed up for nine straight points. Midway in the quarter Nelson popped in a short jumper to tie the score at 24-24.

A minute later the Braves went ahead for the first time, 27-26, on another bucket by Nelson and the Crusaders were never in the ball game again.

Mark Stupak, a 6 foot 1 inch junior, got into the act for the Braves shortly before the half when he fired in five field goals and a free throw to help his club to a 41-33 margin in the intermission.

Following the 31 point explosion in the second period the Braves cemented the victory by outscoring Holy Name 15-7 in the third.

Climbing Holy Name's downfall in that period was a complete reversal in form from the free throw line. The Crusaders had canned 13 of 15 free shots in the first half but they failed to convert seven of eight opportunities in the third quarter.

Gladstone led by 16 entering the finale, 56-40, and padded the margin to 21 points with four minutes remaining in the game.

It was a balanced effort that paid off for Gladstone with four of the five starters clicking in double figures. Nelson was top man with 15 points and snatched 11 rebounds. Dan Pepin contributed 14 points, Stupak and Watson-13 each.

The Braves shot well from the field, hitting on 28 of 72 for 39 per cent. Holy Name made 18 of 63 from the floor for 27 per cent.

Tom Smith, Holy Name's 6 foot 2 inch pivotman, turned in one of his best performances of the season with a 24 point scoring exhibition. He was deadly from the free throw line, connecting on 14 of 18 attempts to go with his five field goals.

Dave Cannon and Terry Dufour also reached double figures for Holy Name, combining for 25 points.

Holy Name converted 24 of 38 attempts from the charity line as the Braves committed 23 personals and two technicals. Holy Name also drew a technical foul in the hectic contest.

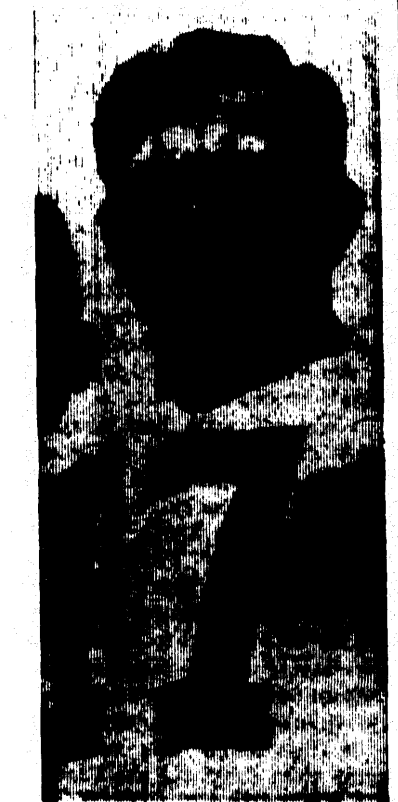

Holy Name won the jayvee game, 60-50.

Don Meredith

Meredith Feels Packers To Be 'Supreme' Test

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — When undergoing Dallas steps into the big pressure game with Green Bay Sunday for the National Football League title, quarterback Don Meredith figures the young Cowboys will be facing the challenge of a lifetime.

"We consider Green Bay the supreme test," said Meredith. "If ever a team had a challenge we've got one Sunday. I want to beat Green Bay so badly because of what they represent—the best in football."

"It isn't the money so much, although that is important. When we had a club meeting to vote on shares there were no problems, no arguments. And when you vote somebody a share or a part of a share you are taking quite a bit out of your pocket."

"As for me, I don't think it would make any difference whether they gave you $5,000 or $25,000 for winning the Super Bowl. If I was in the American Football League I'd almost pay to let me play in it. If we win Sunday, we will be representing the whole NFL in Los Angeles Jan. 15. I'd pay them to let me play, and all of our squad feels the same way."

"But first of all, we have got to establish ourselves as NFL champions. Until that time we can think only of this one coming up Sunday."

Willie Townes, the hulking rookie defensive end who had won a job with the first team, agreed with Meredith about the Packers.

"Green Bay is the greatest team I ever saw," he said. "We figure man for man we are just as good. They are no bigger and no faster than us." The Cowboys have finished their hard work for the big game in the Cotton Bowl. They are tapering off today and will finish up Saturday with a limbering up drill.

Green Bay has been working out in Tulsa, Okla., all week and is due to fly into Dallas this afternoon after a morning drill at Skelly Stadium.

Coach Vince Lombardi will send the defending NFL champions through a brief workout Saturday morning at a Dallas park.

A sellout of 75,504 fans has been assured for some time. Game time is 4:05 p.m. EST, with network (CBS) radio and television coverage.

The latest weather forecast for Sunday is for a high temperature of around 40 degrees and the possibility of rain.

Koufax Is Now Television Man

NEW YORK (AP) — Sandy Koufax has found a job that will be less of a strain on his poor left arm than his former position was, but now he'll have to worry about laryngitis.

The retired Los Angeles Dodger pitching star Thursday signed a 10-year contract with the National Broadcasting Co., calling for him to do broadcasting and other work for the network.

Koufax quit his $125,000 job with the Dodgers in November after winning 27 games, the winningest season in his 11-year career, because of arthritis in his left elbow.

Salary terms of his new job were not revealed, but it is thought the job will pay him something less than the Dodgers did last year. One report had him receiving $100,000 a year.

In Los Angeles, Koufax said, "It sounds great. I'm all excited at the chance to stay close to baseball. It's a fresh start, and I just hope it continues."

NBC said Koufax, 31 years old today, will be involved in both radio and television work and besides doing color commentary on sports events, he will be involved in initiating program ideas, developing talent for the network and working on special projects.

Koufax, the National League's Most Valuable Player once and three times the Cy Young Award winner, set a record with 382 strikeouts in 1965. He pitched four no-hit games and led the Dodgers to three pennants and two World Series victories.

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) — Jack Swarthout, a Washington State high school coach, will succeed Hugh Davidson as head football coach at the University of Montana. President Robert R. Pantzer announced Thursday.

Alcindor Keeps Guard Up And Bruins Reach Finals Of Los Angeles Tourney

By The Associated Press
Lew Alcindor is keeping his guard up... and Southern California's embattled Trojans can only hope the UCLA basketball prodigy stays on the defensive.

The Trojans take their second shot at 7-foot-1 Alcindor and the top-ranked Bruins tonight in the title game of the Los Angeles Classic... and their memory of the first encounter is still much too clear for comfort.

Four weeks ago Alcindor made his varsity debut against Southern Cal and shattered the UCLA scoring record with a 56-point spree as the Bruins won 105-90, beginning their run of seven straight victories.

Since then, however, the sensational sophomore has been shooting less and concentrating on defense. He settled for 18 points Thursday night in a 91-72 semifinal victory over Georgia Tech after USC, down by 15 points in the second half, rallied for a 73-72 victory over Illinois.

"I feel my defense is improving, but I'm still not satisfied," said Alcindor, who ruled the Trojans' backboards and blocked shots while Mike Warren and Lucious Allen helped the UCLA offense go with 17 and 14 points, respectively.

Peck Hickman, coach of No. 2-ranked Louisville, was far from satisfied after the Cardinals held off Syracuse 75-71 for their 10th straight victory and a championship berth opposite unbeaten Princeton in the Quaker City Classic at Philadelphia.

"Some of our boys stood around as if they were counting the crowd," Hickman said.

Princeton banged in six straight points for a 53-47 lead with three minutes to play, then held off Villanova 55-52 for its seventh victory without a loss. John Harlow's 16 points led the Tigers.

Southern Illinois, one of the nation's small college giants, ambushed fourth-ranked Texas Western 80-54 in the first round of the Sun Carnival at El Paso, Tex., a tourney the host Miners had won five years in a row.

A tough some defense, coupled with Ralph Johnson's 22 points, take the Salukis into tonight's final against Southern Methodist, which edged Drake 84-81 in the nightcap.

Fifth-ranked New Mexico, the host club in the Lobo Invitational at Albuquerque, stormed past Texas A&M 85-54 as Mel Daniels dropped in 17 of his 22 points in the first half. Colorado State University nipped New York University 55-33 in the opener and will take on New Mexico tonight for the title.

Elvin Hayes scored 23 points and grabbed 8 rebounds as sixth-ranked Houston captured the Arkansas State Invitational crown with a 66-58 triumph over the host team at Jonesboro, Ark.

Both have had back trouble — Gilbert since 1960 and Ratelle more recently.

Last February, Dr. Yanagisawa performed the intricate spinal fusion on Gilbert and in June, Ratelle went under his knife for the same operation.

Now they are back together again, and Thursday night they made life miserable for Detroit goalie Roger Crozier.

The two-goal game was the fifth Gilbert has had this season. He also turned in the first hat trick of his career in the second game of the season.

"That was the big one for me," he said. "We were losing 4-1 and my three goals helped us get a 4-4 tie that night. After that, I knew the back would hold up and I'd be all right."

Dr. Yanagisawa puffed contentedly on his cigar as he walked out of Madison Square Garden. It was almost as if he knew it all the time.

Football Is Coming

Get Eyes Set For TV Test

By The Associated Press
First television invented the National Drivers Test and then it followed up with the National Health Test, National Citizenship Test and a bunch of others.

This weekend the network moguls have come up with what is surely the most awe-inspiring test of all — the National Television Football Watching Test.

From noon Saturday until almost midnight Monday, (Eastern Standard Time) the American football fan will be able to discover his true feelings toward the little box in the living room. He will be able to watch almost entirely without channel switching, eight — count 'em eight — football games.

Saturday, there is the Gator Bowl (Tennessee-Syracuse) on ABC at noon, the Cotton Bowl (Georgia-Southern Methodist) on CBS at 2:30 p.m. and the Shrine Game (East-West) on NBC at 4:30 p.m.

Sunday, the pros take over with the AFL Championship game (Buffalo-Kansas City) at 1 p.m. on NBC and the NFL title game (Green Bay-Dallas) on CBS at 4:30 p.m.

Monday, it's back to the colleges. First the Sugar Bowl (Alabama-Nebraska) on NBC at 2 p.m. Then the Rose Bowl (Purdue-Southern California) on NBC at 5 p.m. and finally the Orange Bowl (Georgia Tech-Florida) at 8 p.m. on NBC.

At the Gator Bowl in Jacksonville, Fla., it was the passing of Tennessee's Dewey Warren against the running of Syracuse's Floyd Little and Larry Csonka.

During the regular season, Tennessee was 7-3 and Syracuse 8-2.

Georgia, 9-1, was a slight favorite over SMU, 8-2, in the Cotton Bowl in Dallas, but Coach Hayden Fry said he thought Southern Methodist has yet to play its best game and "perhaps it will come in the Cotton Bowl."

At the 42nd Shrine game in San Francisco, Don Horn of San Diego State was to alternate with Stanford's Dave Lewis in quarterbacking the West while Benny Russell of Louisville and Danny Talbot of North Carolina were set lead the West.

Nebraska, 9-1, got some bad news when Alabama's star end Ray Perkins appeared recovered from his groin injury in Sugar Bowl practice Thursday. Coach Bear Bryant of the Crimson, 10-0 during the regular season, said Perkins would play in the New Orleans game whether he was in top condition or not.

Southern Cal, 7-3, will have to go with Troy Winslow all the way at quarterback in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena since backup man Tobey Page, who saw a lot of action during the season, is out with a leg injury. Quarterback Bob Griese is the key to victory hopes for Purdue, 8-2.

And in the Orange Bowl, injuries to key Georgia Tech defenders put a crimp in the engineers' hopes of stopping Florida's Steve Spurrier in the Miami game. Linebacker Billy Schroer and defense end Tommy Carlisle have foregone contact work in practice.

Florida Coach Ray Graves, however, says his team is "just where I want it to be. We'll not need two-a-day workouts any more."

End Of Trend For Rose Bowl

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—This year's Rose Bowl seems to be the start of a new era. Or maybe it's the end of an old trend.

However viewed, there has been no bickering, no cloak-and-dagger exercises and nothing but good clean humor in the exchanges between the Bowl rivals, Purdue and Southern California.

Southern Cal's coach, John McKay, and Jack Mollenkopf of the Boilermakers have held open practice for the press. For years, the Big Ten drills have been barred to West Coast writers, and the Easterners couldn't get into the coast team's sessions.

"There aren't many secrets in football," said McKay, who commented one afternoon: "I'm angry and I hope my team is angry."

But McKay's ire wasn't aimed at Purdue.

John, who seldom strays too far from a sense of humor, has been irritated with some writers here who, in effect, seemed to criticize USC for accepting the role of Rose Bowl host after losing to UCLA.

However, a majority of the writers have picked the underdog Trojans to upset Purdue.

Card Drive Big Aid For Morale

ANN ARBOR (AP) — "The holiday would have just slipped by without the cards," wrote Army Pfc. James Pandorf, who added: "You have no idea what a morale booster word from home can be."

It was typical of the notes of thanks some 260 Ann Arbor residents received in response to Christmas cards they mailed GIs in Vietnam, whom they had never seen. Some even came in silk-covered Vietnamese Christmas cards.

Requests for addresses of service men in Vietnam snow-balled after the Ann Arbor News printed two letters in November asking names and addresses of soldiers, sailors and marines fighting in that far-off land.

Parents, relatives and friends furnished the News with more than 150 names and addresses. One mother reported her son received 35 cards and gifts from total strangers. Others told of similar surprises reported by service men at mail call.

Resume Morrell
Probe Tuesday

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The U.S. Coast Guard said Thursday that hearings into the sinking of the ore carrier Daniel J. Morrell in a Lake Huron storm Nov. 29 will resume Tuesday.

Expected to testify are the chief engineer of Bethlehem Steel Corp., operator of the Morrell, and a weather man. A former master of the ore carrier is expected to testify Thursday.

The Coast Guard said it intends to lower an electronically controlled television camera into Lake Huron to view what the Coast Guard believes is the wreckage of the ship.

The 800-foot vessel broke in two during the storm, claiming the lives of 28 seamen, including officers.

Viet Dockers
Settle Strike

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Small-scale fighting flared in South Vietnam's Mekong Delta and the central lowlands today on the eve of the two-day New Year's truce.

In the air war, bad weather again curtailed raids on North Vietnam, but U.S. B-52 bombers made three attacks on Communist positions in South Vietnam.

With the New Year's cease-fire scheduled to start at 6 p.m. EST Friday, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky threatened to cancel the four-day truce promised for the Vietnamese New Year in February unless the Viet Cong observe the truce this weekend better than they did the Christmas cease-fire.

In Saigon, American sources reported that a five-day port strike protesting the replacement of Vietnamese dockworkers by American servicemen had been settled. The settlement came near the end of an ineffective 12-hour general strike called in Saigon by the Vietnamese Confederation of Labor.

Judge Joe Gillis Takes Dad's Job

DETROIT (AP)—When they switch judges at Recorder's Court Tuesday, it promises to be a smooth operation—just a matter of exchanging keys. And all in the family, too.

Judge Joe Gillis, after 35 years on the bench, is stepping aside. Judge Joe Gillis Jr., son of the outgoing judge, will take the bench.

Young Gillis, 45, was elected in November to succeed his father, 70, who had decided to abandon the post.

"He takes my bench, I take his law firm," the elder Gillis said. "He takes the keys to my courtroom, I take the keys to his office."

Detroit jurists could recall no other instances where a son had succeeded his father as judge.

But that's not the only unusual thing about Gillis.

He once conducted a 10-month probe as a one-man grand jury and recovered millions of dollars in unpaid sales taxes for the state.

Too Much Power
The entire investigation was financed on less than $6,300.

"I hate the one-man grand jury system," Gillis said. "It's too much power for one man to handle."

Folks around Detroit years ago contended that the judge invented professional wrestling in a basement of the University of Detroit.

"A little agility with mild fakery included," he said. "While I invented it, I didn't spread it."

Discussing his last few days on the bench, Gillis said:

"I have a lady coming up before me on Friday who has served 20 years for murder. I sentenced her the first time. I think now that I charged the jury wrong."
